

Tadao Maruko v. Versorgungswerk der deutschen Bühnen

Advocate General Advices ECJ to Decide in Favour of Same-Sex Couples

Rechtskomitee LAMBDA: „Promising first victory“

RKL-President Graupner represents ILGA-Europe (the European Region of the International Lesbian and Gay Organisation ILGA) in a landmark case before the European Court of Justice (ECJ). The highest court in the EU has to decide if registered (same-sex) partnerships have to be treated on the same footing as marriage or if employers and pension schemes may restrict benefits to married partners. The advocate general now recommended the first.

Mr. Maruko for years lived with his partner in registered partnership. After his partner had died the Vddb, the pension scheme for German theatres, refused to pay him a survivors pension as such pension are provided only for married partners. Mr. Maruko sued the Vddb and the Bavarian Administrative Court Munich referred the case to the ECJ for interpretation of the EU-Antidiscrimination-Directive.

The ECJ heard the case in an oral hearing on June 18th, 2007. Mr. Maruko has been represented by ILGA-Europe and ILGA-Europe itself by RKL-president Dr. Helmut Graupner who has been assisted by Dr. Robert Wintemute (professor of human rights at Kings College London) and Manfred Bruns from the German federal lgb organisation LSVD (who is a retired federal attorney at the German Supreme Court).

The German government did not oppose Mr. Maruko while the British and the Dutch governments did so. The European Commission however supports Mr. Marukos position.

The Advocate General presented his opinion yesterday saying that registered partners (in employment) have to be treated on the same footing as married partners if – as it is the case in in Germany – registered partnership gives rise to substantially identical consequences as marriage.

The Advocate General's opinion contains some important fundamental statements. So that "acceptance of homosexuality" is an "indispensable step on the way to implementation of equality and respect for all human beings" (par. 2). That the principle of equal treatment – together with the one of freedom of movement – is the principle which shows the longest tradition in European law and which is the most deeply rooted principle there (par. 83). And that the prohibition of discrimination on the basis of sexual orientation, due to its fundamental character, is of a different dimension than the prohibition of age-discrimination (note 82).

„The ECJ already three times decided in favour of transsexuals, but so far never for homosexuals“, says Dr. Helmut Graupner, president of the Austrian lesbian and gay rights organization Rechtskomitee LAMBDA (RKL) and counsel of Tadao Maruko, “We very much hope that the highest court in the EU this time will follow the advocate general's opinion and send a strong signal against discrimination of same-sex couples”.

Rechtskomitee LAMBDA (RKL), founded in 1991, on a supra-partisan and denominational level is working for the implementation of human rights for homo- and bisexual men and women.
